

A Message to Faculty, Staff, & Students

The university experience looks and feels different for many students who embark on this journey. Supporting students is the responsibility of the university community. It is likely that faculty, staff, or other students will be in the best position to recognize the distress of a student. Faculty, staff and students can

EXAMPLES:

Shares intention to end own life

A suicide attempt has been made or plans to attempt in immediate future

Threats directed towards another individual or the community

Disoriented, unconscious or unresponsive

Behavior is dangerous, uncontrollable, abusive, or threatening

EXAMPLES:

Statements suggesting suicidal thoughts or harm to self, but no immediate plan is expression (e.g., "I won't be around to see this", "it has been nice knowing you")

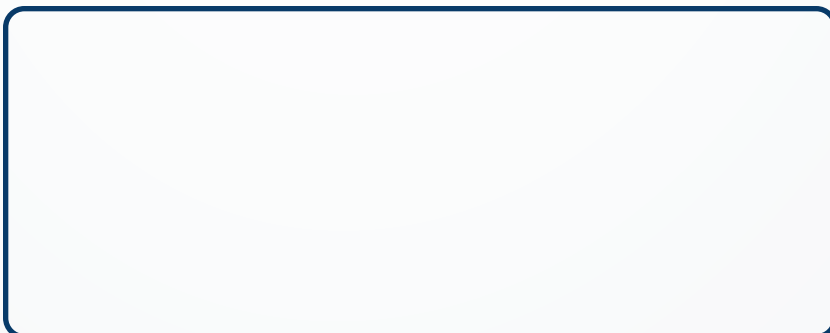

Student is distraught and can't be calmed

Marked and sudden change in

IMMEDIATELY call 911

Immediately connect student with CAPS. Stay with the student and walk them to CAPS (SS8- Rm 229; 2nd floor of Breezeway above the Food Court) or call CAPS. If the incident occurs after hours call CAPS on-call crisis service.

As much as you and the student are comfortable, listen and provide support, but DO NOT act as the student's counselor.

Require FAU take mandatory steps when responding to sexual harassment incidents it has actual knowledge about. The steps include notifying individuals impacted by sexual harassment about options they may find helpful.

Any supervisory employee or other official who has authority to institute corrective measures